Media Center - Films on Road safety in India

Our studio is called the "Riverbanks Studios" and is run by our director, Mr. Mike H. Pandey. Mr. Pandey has won accolades internationally for his films on wildlife, especially for his work "The Last Migration" which reveals the complex fight for land and food between humans and animals. He is also the driving force for the weekly half hour series "Earth Matters" aired on state television.

He has also won the prestigious "Green Oscar" three time, in 1994, 2000 and 2004 for his films on wildlife and efforts to save the environment through the powerful media of films.

The concept of road safety in our country has grown tremendously in the last few years with the people beginning to realise the value of training. Interactive audio video training has the maximum impact on trainees.

To cater to this segment and to create videos that are Indianized and pertain to the prevailing road conditions in our country, we have a fully equipped media centre in Delhi where we create these videos, right from the storyboard to the finished product and we can make these in any Indian dialect.

Riverbank Studios - Present the Real Picture in Totality

We have not limited ourselves to making films for our selves - we make safety films for any topic related to road safety and for any type of vehicle, from bicycles to cranes to 50 ton trailers.

Each of the films are customized to address the customers needs and the needs of the operators of the vehicles. These films can be used in refresher programs effectively to convey the message of safety.

We have successfully shot and presented safety films on the use of seat belts, use of helmets on two wheelers, concrete transit mixture carriers, bus safety, soft skills for chauffeurs and a host of other films.

If you have any requirements on these subjects, please contact us with your needs and one of our representatives will meet you to discuss your needs and requirements.
